The Washington Times

OWNED AND ISSUED BY The Washington Times Company, TIMES BUILDING, SOUTHWEST CORNER PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE AND TENTH STREET.

Telephone—Editorial Rooms, 4%, Business Office' 337. Morning or Evening Edition... One Cent. Sunday Edition Three Cents. Monthly by Carrior-Morning and Sunday Thirty-five Cents ... Thirty Cents

WASHINGTON, D. C., NOVEMBER 8, 1895

Subscribers to "The Times" will confer a favor by promptly reporting any discourtesy of collectors or neglect of duty on the part of carriers Complaints either by mail or in person will receive prompt attention. The Morning Edition should be de-Hvered to all parts of the city by 6:30 o'clock a. m., including Sunday. The Evening Edition should be in the hands of subscribers not later than 5:30 p. m.

Rejected manuscripts are usually when accompanied by stamps, but any obligation to do so is expressly disavowed. Manuscripts unaccompanied by postage will not be returned.

A JOURNALISTIC MARVEL.

No Bluff and Bluster About the Wonderful Growth of The Times.

Notwithstanding the desperate efforts of a contemporary to stem the tide of success into which it has been launched. The TIMES CONTINUES TO GROW.

The Times' circulation and The Times' advertising are marvels of the newspaper world. Many of our wide-awake merchants have placed their whole dependence upon The Times, and in no instance have they been disappointed.

No daily newspaper ever published in the District of Columbia so thoroughly covered its territory as does The Times with its morning and evening editions. It is a complete and interesting record of each day, with more than 33,000 living testimonials to its merit as a newspaper and its efficacy as an advertising medium.

34,160 34,051 34,145 33,757 34,419 35,215 23,770

Total 229,517 solemnly swear that the above is a cor-t statement of the daily circulation of rect statement of the daily circulation of THE WASHINGTON TIMES for the week ending November 3, 1816, and that as the copies were actually sold or mailed for a valuable consideration and delivered to bona fide purchasers or subscribers; also, that none of them were returned or remain in the office andelivered.

J. MILTON YOUNG, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 4th day of November, A. D. 1895.

ERNEST G. THOMPSON.

Notary Public.

QUAY AND CAMERON.

The pleasing statement is made that the coolness which has existed for some time between Quay and Cameron, the Pennsylvania Scuators, has melted and been transformed into sublime fervency. Of course if no coolness existed the story cannot be true, and there does not appear to be the least basis for a suspicion of frosty rela-

The remarkable fight which Quay fought to a triumphant finish against the "bog combine" this year was Quay's own fight. He did not desire that Cameron should take a hand in it at all. As it was, Quay's opponents made capital from the statement that the battle was being waged solely in the interest of Cameron's re-election. The understanding was clear that Cameron should remain out of the State during the contest. The pretty conclusions, therefore, which are drawn from the companionship of the two Senators on a visit to Quay's Indian River residence are merely harm less fiction.

Vastly more significant is a declaration of Mr. Frank Willing Leach, Quay's most intimate political lieutenant, that Philadelphia should have the Senatorship when the change is made in 1897. Moreover, Mr. Leach's declaration appears exclusively in the columns of the Philadelphia Inquirer, Senator Quay's Philadelphia organ, Mr. Leach would not have given such a statement to the public without his words were hespired, and if it means anything at all it means that Senator Cameron will not attempt to succeed himself, for if Cameron desires re-election Quay will surely support

Mr. Leach accompanied the Senators South, and now his remarkable declaration is agitating the whole Keystone State.

ADMINISTRATION CENSORS.

It is appounced that Lieut, Lucien Young of the Navy has written a book upon the Hawaiian question. Anything from this brilliant gentleman and gallant officer in the line of literature would be a lasting contribution to the treasures of the world, but it seems that he is to be forced to suppress his own work. In some corner of the Administration there appears to be a literary censor, who passes upon the merits of the product of other men's brains and commends or condemns with oracular and autocratic assumption. Lieut. Young made a serious mistake when he submitted his work to any judgment except that of his own mind. He should have issued it and tested the power of his superior officers to limit his expression, either practical or impractical. in romanticism or realism, in prose or song, in comedy or tragedy.

It is to be hoped the lieutenant will assert himself and place the work of his graceful and facile pen before the world.

RUSKIN COLONY FAILURE.

Information comes of the virtual collaps of the Ruskin colony, in Tennessee, one of those isolated communistic, co-operative experiments which are constantly springing up and going down. They are good illus trations of the futility of co-operative schemes operating in the midst of competitive forms, and under laws which favor combinations and trusts.

Many of these colonies have been success ful in a dreary sort of way. Probably there are a hundred of them all told, in the United States, which are fairly successentirely lock the ideal atmosphere of content and comfort that was dreamed of by Owen, Cabet, Fourier, and many others.

as every one is forced to engage in bot in o'clock.

etition with the outside world-s edition which is opposed to the very Curiously enough the strongest opp of such projects are the Socialists. They cry down these isolated co-operative schemes as, being entirely selfish and ineffective. They preach that all who op pose the competitive capitalist system should stay in the midst of it and fight against it in the interests of universal cooperation—that is, the acquisition of all the means of production, transportation and communication, and the operation of them solely for the benefit of the mass and not for the aggrandizement of individuals or combinations.

For these reasons the Socialists look with much complacency upon the failure of such projects as the Ruskin, Topolabampo, other similar experiments HELPING ANACOSTIA MEN.

The action of the District Assembly of the Knights of Labor in appropriating from its funds the generous sum of $2,500 to assist the lock-out employes of the Anacostia Railroad Company, and carry on the fight against the impositions of the management of that corporation, is a fine illustration of the principle of the order that the injury of one is the injury of all. It is understood that one part of the pro gramme is to continue to run conveyances from the Asylum grounds, terminus of the Anacostia road, without fares, to connect with the cable line at the entrance to the Navy Yard, and possibly upon other paying links of the road.

While this is a large undertaking, it is certainly striking at the most valuable unction of the Anacostia management and will doubtless be much more effective than other methods would be. The people of Anacostia appear to be in enthusiasti sympathy with the cause of the locked-out men, as the mass meeting to be held by them this evening will undoubtedly show in the most emphatic manner.

Senator Gibson's figure is about the only thing in Maryland that is not disfigured.

of Ohio.

There are almost certain indication that Coxey has not been elected Governo Quay's most trusted lieutenant, Frank Willing Leach, names five Philadelphians any one of whom would be acceptable as a successor to Cameron in the United States Senate. They are ex-Postmaster General Wanamaker, John Russell Young, District Attorney Graham, State Senato Penrose and Charles C. Harrison, Now, will Mr. Frank Willing Leach rise and explain why be failed to include Mr. Charles Emory Smith?

Grover's silence concerning the elections suggests that he didn't have any luck shoot ing squirrels.

With Quay as President, Platt as Secctary of the Treasury, Fessenden as Secretary of State, Cameron as Secretary of War, Boutelle as Secretary of the Navy, Clarkson as Secretary of the Interior, Carter as Postmaster General and Foraker as Attorney General, the country would expect something more than a fishing administration.

McGoldrick, Tammany's secretary, is a econd Billy Patterson. No one seems to know who struck him.

It is to be hoped the statement that Richard Mansfield has lost his memory as a result of typhoid fever is an affliction for advertising purposes only.

New But Not News.

An interesting result of the devastation of the trees by worms last summer is now observable. Thousands of young, vigorous trees in all parts of the city that then lost their leaves have put out a second crop, and in some quarters the foliage is almost as fine as in spring. On the block at the Metropolitan Methodist Church, on Penn-sylvania avenue, and in Latayette square this renewal has been especially noticed.

A circus horse made a mild sensation He was of the "beauty" order, with bay and white markings. He stopped in the middle of the electric car track, so as to block both sides, and refused to budge

The more his driver belabored and coaxed and tried to lead him the more he was de-termined to remain there all night. The rowd gathered, motormen and conductor threatened and swore and the poor driver protested and tried to lead his horse. Finally enough men got about the team fairly to lift vehicle and horse and carry them off the track, and traffic was re

A rather amusing incident happened at he stall of a poultry dealer in Center

Market the other day.

An old fellow who stutters and, besides An our rensw was statters and, besides this accomplishment, runs a bearding bouse up in the northwest section of the city, was the principal actor. This bearding house, or "food hospital," as one of the "star" members of the "home circle" characterizes it, is run for the money there is in it. The bearders are mostly

The stuttering landlord went to market Saturday night and stopped before the H-how many c-c-chickens have you?"

"Twelve replied the dealer."
"Are they t-t-tough or t-tender?" 'Some are tenderer than others. "Pick me out six of the t-t-tough ones. I c-keep b-b-boarders.

The delighted dealer selected the hardest-oking chicks in the coop.
"Are t-they the t-t-toughest?"

"T-t-then I will t-t-take th-h-ese," said the stutiering boarding-house keeper, a he pointed out the six remaining chickens which the dealer had left in the coop.

On an old plantation down in Virginia that, for edu there is a mine that, for education, locats a great many animals of so-called higher intelligence. This prodigy belonged to an old colored family, who swore by that mule. The nule went by the name of Abe, and he was born just about the time Abraham Linoch was inaugurated President.

Abe, as was said by the neighbors, knew and could do everything. Among other things he was so lazy that he would not walk out to the water trough if it looked anything like rain. He would stick his head out of the door of the barn and wait for the rain to begin falling. He would then open his mouth and catch the water as it fell from the eaves of the stable. That he could count nobody in the sur-rounding country doubted. He was used togetting nine ears of corn at a feeding. On one occasion only eight were given him and he immediately set to work and d the bottom of the manger out look ing for the missing ear.

Recently, however, he did what surprise his owner more than anything else. Tr his owner more than anything else. The field in which he was plowing with Abe adjoined a mill. Whenever the mill whistle blew for 12 o'clock Abe noticed that everybody quit work and he was fed.

It so happened on this day that Abe was in the middle of a long row when the whistle blew. He pricked up his ears and stopped: the driver whipped him and he started off with a sad look in his eyes. He worked a few paces and then broke into a run. When he got to the end of the emarkable Seismic Disturbances of Other Days and a Plain Statement of Various Theories.

NYSTERY OF EARTHOUAKES

Strange Phenomena of the Twisting and Heaving of the Globe's Thin Crust.

Earthquake waves have been known to travel 2,000 miles in South America, and in 1755 the Lisbon earthquake was felt from South Africa to Iceland.

The remarkably protracted shaking of the Mississippi Valley in 1811, having its epicentrum fixed in the vicinity of New Madrid, culminated in the fearful outbreak at Caracas, the capital of the South American State of Venezuela. This involved a through passage under the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea.

Prior to the Charleston earthquake on the night of August 31, 1866, the dwellers on the Atlantic water-shed considered themselves free from liability of such visitations. There are no neighboring vol-canoes, but there are really vent-holes, through which an overcharged interior may expend its surplus pressure. The shock was a great surprise. Vermont, Wisconsin, New Orleans, Cuba, and Bermuda all felt it. Usually mountains, with their broken strata, break the wave, but in this instance the vibrations evidently passed far beneath them; yet on the beights of the Appalachian region the

The most forcible exhibition was at Sumnerville in an elliptical area twenty-six niles long and eighteen miles wide. Of this area the major axis is a curve with its concave side toward Charleston and eighteen uiles north west from that city.

een more destructive than this, but have not spread over so wide an extent. The intensity at Summerville was seven-tenths greater than at the seaboard city, and had the focus been at this point the result would ave been most appalling.

As it was, the condition that saved Charles ton from total destruction is that the land is there all loose material, known as the tertiary plain of the Atlantic, extending 100 miles in from the coast, and this, as in the case of New Madrid in 1811, where the drift is 250 feet deep, secured immunity from the greatest disaster.

Some idea of this disturbance may be formed when it is stated that the vertical lift of the wave was nearly twelve inches. Between the city and the shock this deposit of loose material acted as a buffer, and the city was only hit as with soft gloves.

After an earthquake in South America ground was raised from three to four feet for 1,200 miles. In New Zealand, in 1855, a large tract near Wellington was raised over a yard, when an extensive "fault" was developed. The same thing occurred a few years ago in Japan, one side of a fault being uplifted from ten to twelve fect over the other, leaving a perpendicular wall for hundreds of mile tional jar will increase it as the sides of the split become more and more displaced, and where these fractures have become very enormous we may infer that they were the result of ages of repeated action.

But what is the general cause of earthquakes, and what is their physical interpretation? What are recognized as the au-thorities differ. Physical geology does not appear to have advanced much beyond what in mathematics would be recognized as enumeration.

known by names, but when it comes to ex-plaining the physical action that wrought the deposition of these strata and what are their superincumbent conditions, there is a considerable lack of homogeneity in the various solutions.

It would seem, however, that the crus of the earth has gradually to accommo manifest on the surface.

This pressure may find temporary relief (and this may mean centuries) in lift of one or both sides of a fault, or i may extend to a volcapo and result in an outpouring of lava or other substance o substances, which is its final culmination An earthquake may be interpreted as bein preliminary to such final action.

Those were ages when man, had he bes in existence, would have been literally cradled in fire. The great New Madric hake in 1811-'12 continued for more than three months, and most onusnal phenomena were displayed, owing to the immense de posit of salt and loose material generally feet in 1811, and at least a hundred square miles sank out of sight and lakes ar there instead.

The last parliamentary return in regard to the national debt is extremely in ing. The gross liabilities of the nation for the year which ended on March 31 1894, were £669,104,024 ($3,350,000,000) and these were reduced in the succeeding weive months by £8,943,417, so that o March 31, 1895, the liabilities stood at £660,160,607 ($3,300,000,000). In 1836 the gross liabilities of the nation were £853, 173, 597 ($4, 265,000,000). The expenditures charged against the public revenues on account of the national debt, including both interest and repay ment of capital, has been rduced from £28, 566,153 in 1836 to £24,977,912 in 1895 Over £6,000,000 ($30,000,000) goes every rear to redeem capital.

Another fact remains to be noticed. The nation possesses in the Suez canal sha saiable asset valued at £24,000, $120,000,000). The net liabilities of the state, are, therefore, reduced by this amount

Capt. J. A. Enslow, jr., who makes regular business tours through the State, has just returned from the "only" orange re tion of Florida. He says the crop will no exceed 60,000 boxes, all of which are far below the line of Tampa and Bartow, the centers of the trade in that commodity (or luxury) being Myers and Braidentown. Nearly the entire crop has been sold on the trees at $2.50 to $2.75 per box, and several have been resold at a profit be-yond that basis. To "deliver" these at Jacksonville $1 more must be added for hauling, wrapping, boxing, and freight. Capt. Enslow knows of several lots sold at $3.50 to $3.75, delivered at Jackson

He is of the opinion that most of thi crop will go North and West. He kno ws of several carload orders already executed for Western points for November and De-cember deliveries. There have been very few transactions in January deliveri Florida Times-Union.

Excellent Method.

Cleff—They tell me your daughter Julia is quite a singer. Has she a good voice? Is her method—"

Bust—Can't say so much about her voice, but her method is superb. She never sings when I am at home.—Boston Evening Transcript.

"crown" for a dollar.

We put on sale this morning for

To-day and Saturday from three of the best Hat makers we know of. We had a hard pull to get 'em at a price that would let us offer because they're regular $1.75, $2, $2.25 and $2.50 Hats-worth that to anybody. We've got the very Hats they're the models of in stock now marked at the "right" prices.

$1.00

No trouble about getting a shape to suit-all the blocks are represented --- Dunlap's -Knox's - Youman's -Miller's-the very latest Blacks and Browns-silk bindings and bands. Others may ape this sale of ours-but there's as much difference between samples and "seconds" as between good money and bad. Ours are SAMPLES. Stop at the Shoe Department and see the sample shoes. Don't you want to talk about a Fall Suit at the same time? No such Neckwear for 50c anywhere.

SAKS AND COMPANY,

WAS POET AND HUMORIST Thoughts of An Impartial Critic in Regard to the Work of Eugene Field. He Excelled as Humorist, as Writer of Children's Ballads, and Yet as a Creator of Lofty Prose Epics.

When a man has fairly established his reputation in print as a humorist it is bard him to gain quick recognition as a serious writer. Eugene Field so long amused the public, and so well, that looks of incredulity and suspicious of a hoax somewhere, attended his first efforts at sober prose and verse.

Not long did the puzzlement last, however. A style simple to serverity, full of stray bits of both prose and verse as appeared from time to time in Mr. Field's famous Sharps and Flats column in the Morning News. proportions of a collection, his friends begged him to punish them in abiding form.

"A Little Book of Western Verse" was the result, a Book which, in spite of its exclusive and expensive character, became instantly popula

There was a clamor for a cheaper edition, and Eastern as well as Western shelves contain it, "The Little Boy Blue," "Brothrs," "Wynken, Hlynken and Nod," und "Knee Deep," poems which are destined to which are enshrined in the hearts of the simplest as well as the most com plex of our people, and which are Ameri-can classics already, are in this collection.

Eugene Field never wrote and never of the spirit of poetry than these. It is by ese that he will be mainly known In dialect verse be has succeeded in win ing and retaining the popular heart, and some of his larger and more pretentious efforts, like "Echoes from the Sabine Farm." Horatian translations which Eugene Field and Roswell Field, his brother, made to gether, show a fine literary flavor and holarly attainment.

But Eugene Field's original verse is no urpassed by any produced in this country for many years, if ever .

For a long time Mr. Field has been earning tinction as a writer of graceful, thought ful and tender prose. His familiarity with the early English Writers, from careful study of their works, has shown itself in ourity of style, and his love of nature, of od and keen admiration for all that s good and untainted in life have been emodied in allegory, fairy tale and romance of canobling order.

"The Holy Cross" was the first of his erious books-not wholly serious even that, after the first story; but "The Holy Cross tself is semi-religious in character and

The Wandering Jew is the hero of this which he is treated and the divine halo put ver his brow show the all-embracing width of Eugene Field's catholic charity. "Upon that holy ground where slept the Jew was stretched a cross, a mighty cross of snow on which the sun never fell and and the sacred passion of the blood-red flowers, but over that lonely grave was stretched the symbol of him that went his way to Calvary, and in that grave slept

Field will be most publicly known, and fitly too, for his being was permeated with real funniness. A love of the hyperbolic, the topsy-turvy, the mock sublime, and, abov ail, a mania for the practical joke, which he would take no end of trouble to elaborate in print, seemed to pervade his being. In the story of "Fido," one of the "Pro fitable Tales," tepublished just the other day, there is an account of the little dog's of an abrupt anti-climax to ease a burst-ing heart. Another instance of this kind occurs to "Little Miss Merciless," a rescence of a painfully sacred character erning the deat hof a beloved child, in which reference is made to the "doll Beautikey that was made of wood, and unto the top of which bed-key the Queen of Sheba superadded a head with a fair face, and upon the body and arms of which she had lung passing noble raiment."

This pittful toy is one of the most pathetic relics of the dead child. In these strange extremes of sentiment—no grief having been able to crush the humorist in him—Eugene Field excelled. His everyday wit was Gilbertian in flavor, finished and elaborate when he took the pains; rough hewn when be chose to leave it so.

I have been looking again at the stories in the Holy Cross book, and for perfection I can find nothing like "Felice and Petit Poulain," a short story of a mare and her colt. In style it is symmetry itself, in thought it is born beauty, and in narrative it is pure interest. Can anything more be said of a story than this? In it are epitomes of what may be believed to be Eugene Field's own creeds, since he puts the sentiments into no other mouths.

Sincerity of thought, embodied in litermeaning, feeling and grace, marked such ary grace-has literature better to offer than this? I do not know that Eugene Field was capable of sustained effort in any one line; he seemed rather to be the vessel from which bursts of inspiration came, short, After these had grown in number to the glowing; but I do not see how fault can be

> "There are those who ssay that none but humankind is immortal; that none but man has a soul. I do not make nor believe that claim. There is that within me that me that nothing in this world and life of ours which has felt the grace of maternity > shall utterly perish." And this other: "Of peace I know and can speak. Of honor, fame, happiness, and its patheti tragedy of poverty, heartache, disappoint-ment, tears, bereavement. Of war I know oothing, and never shall know; it is not in my heart or for my hand to break that law which God enjoined from Sinai and Christ confirmed in Galilee."

Excerpts From the Curious.

Arctic explorers who have found then selves in the midst of an aurora describe i as producing a cooling, prickly sensation and a very exhibarating effect. In a pasture near Grafenberg, Bavaria there is a large flat boulder lying prone apon the ground in such a manuer that the st surface forms a splendid dancing floor. It is locally known as the Teufelsti levil's table, and tradition says that in ancient times his satanic majesty and arge concourse of imps often danced upon it from midnight until morning. Over 400 diamonds are known to have een recovered from the ruins of Pabylon Many are uncut, but most are polished or one or two sides only. It is said that the first Hebrew to b made an English peer was Sir Sampse was created Lord Eardley in 1789 by Mr. Pitt.

Several amateur musicians have been musing themselves by strolling the streets of Paris as itinerant singers. Two of them were young ladies. A former me of the young ladies recognized her, and thinking that she was in distress, generous ly placed all her savings at her disposal.

In Malta bees are plentiful, and bee stings are in such repute as a cure for theum atism that resort to this primitive method of inoculation has been in common practice in several cases for generations, the result, it is said, having been nmost satisfactor; to the patients. The world's consumption of champagne amounts to about 21,000,000 quart bottles of the sparkling fluid and the United States omes next. At many of the destinations of carrier pigeons men are placed whose business it is to shoot down those birds with messages who circle round the air and waste time in alighting.

per annum. England is the greatest buyer

Signor Crispi, when in Rome, has an es cort of twenty-nine police officials, for which Italy pays 68,000 france a year. Whenever he leaves the city the guarding him is increased three or four fold. Investigations of raindrops lead to the conclusion that some of the large drops must be more or less hollow, as they, when striking, fall to wet the whole surfac within the drop. ishment was, it is said, originated by Gus-tavus Adolphus to punish thieves in his army. It was borrowed by the English from | travel each day has been 28 1-2 mi

M. GOLDENBERG. 928 7th Street,

To-morrow's bargains

Are in Wraps, Corects,
Handkerchiefs,
Chemile Covers,
Chemile Portieres,
White Spreads,
"Bargains" which we offer are extraordi nary reductions—merchandise priced much below its ordinary price level. These for Saturday only:

Women's Sik Wool Boucle Effect Reefer Coats, half satin lined, 4 large buttons, ripple back, large man-dofinsteeves, "Raleigh" collar, which are fully worth $18, only $12.50

Women's Silk Seal Plush Capes 24 inches long, wide sweep, all satin lined, prettily braided and beaded deep storm collar edged with woo Thibet, which are fully worth $12.50 only.....$8.70

Women's Long Astrakhan Woo Capes, full sweep, all satin lined deep storm collar, which, togethe with front, is edged with bear fur. Pully worth $10. Only....$10.60

Women's Silk Seal Plush Capes deep storm collar, all satin lined full sweep, collar and front edged with Angora fur. Fully worth $15. Only.....$10.50 75c "R. & G." Corsets, 59c. For one day-Saturday-we shall offer our regular 75c. White Silk flossed "R. & G." Corset at 59c.

$1 "R. & G." Corsets, 89c. For one day-Saturday-we offer our regular $1 Long waist "R. & G." Corsets, white or black, at 89c. the pair.

12½c Handkerchiefs, 9c. For one day—Saturday—we've re-duced all our Ladies' 12 1-2c. All-linen Hemstitched Handkerchiefs to 9c each.

A lucky purchase

oky purchase

of several hundred dozen Chenille Table Covers and Portleres enables us to offer them at greatly reduced prices.

Handsome 4-quarter Chenille Table
Covers, deep fringe, pretty patterns, all colors, 39c, cach.
Fine6-quarter Chenille TableCovers, deep fringe, all colors, only 79c, each.
Elegant 8-quarter Chenille Table Covers, deepfringe, all colors, variety of pretty patterns, only $1.69 each.
Full length Fine Chenille Portieres, wide dado and fringerton and bottom, all colors, only $1.98 pair.

$1.25 White Spreads, 95c.

M. GOLDENBERG. 928 Seventh St.,

the Germans, who copied it from Gustavus, and, being employed in the British regients in America, was readily taken up by the Indian tribes. A Canterbury correspondent states tha an East Kent, England, landlord has rereived notice to quit from the whole of his farm tenants, the reason given in every case being that it is absolutely impossible, with present prices, to farm the land at a profit, even if they had it rent free.

Referring to Persons.

Mr. Ruskin sees very few visitors now. At 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. he regularly takes a walk with his attendant. But ven then he is so averse to the eye of the stranger that he will turn into the first field or get over a hedge, if possible, when the gate is too distant, rather than be Kipling got a setback from Gladstone's little grand-daughter, Dorothy Drew, the last time he was in England, so the story goes. He was visiting at her home, tool great fancy to her and endeavored to make a good impression upon her by telling tales. After some time her mother, fearing Mr. Kipling might be tired, calle her and said: "Now, Dorothy, I hope you have been good and not wearying Mr. Kipling." "Oh, no, mother; not a bit," replied the infant terrible; "but you've i idea how Mr. Kipling has been wearying sullivan, M. P. for West Donegal, and one time lord mayor of Dublin. It chanced during his tenure of office that the duty of opening some new swimming baths fell to his share. His method was an original one. No sooner was the official part of the ceremony completed that he proceeded to and challenged the town clerk to swim the entire length of the baths, a conest which resulted in an easy victory for the lord mayor.

William Morris makes high art pay. One of the latest publications of the Kelm-scott press is an edition of Chaucer, of which only 425 copies were printed on paper and sevenonvellum. Everyone of these had been sold, $42,000 being realized for the ordinary copies and nearly $5,000 for the vellum impressions.

Outside the people of scriptural renown who lived to be 100 years of age or more the first of whom there is a record of is Thomas Carn, an Englishman, who, it is claimed, lived to the unparalleled age of 207 years; next a Russian subject, who was believed to have attained the age of 205. Capt. Doherty, one of New York's dis graced police captains, has started a cider shop in Brooklyn. He scorns the idea of drawing the line at pure cider, which hedis poses of by glass, gallon or barrel. Things Transatlantic.

he will never lower himself to sell whisky,

During the recent trouble at Constantinople the British Mediterranean fleet lay this cost $35,000 for extra coal. Mr. Fielding, brother of the Earl of Den bigh, was fined five shillings, with the op-tion of three days in Jail, by a Scotch powithout a light. He refused to pay at first, but on seeing the inside of the Aberde jail, changed his mind.

The Paris Comedie Francaise has is d a rule forbidding the wearing of hat by ladies in the orchestra stalls at mati-

Belgium is the home of the racing pig eon. There the sport is a national pas time, and a good pigeon frequently for its owner large sums of money, the pools are added.

Queen Victoria never removes from her courtship and marriage.

A Cossack officer, Capt. Kenicke, who has undertaken to ride his charger from Krasnoe Selo, near St. Petersburg, to Tchita, in Eastern Siberia, a distance of over 4,000 miles, has already reached Omsk, 2,200 miles toward his goal. ore than half-way. His average rate of

AMUSEMENN'TS. Lalayette Square OPERA (PROOF.)

Prices, 25c., 50c., 75c., $1.00, $1.50 LAST PERFORMANCE, To-night at 8.

THOS. Q. SEABROOKE, in the Boiling Farcical Comedy A WORLD OF TROUBLE

NEXT WEEK. Palmer Cox's "BROWNIES," Seats and Boxes now on sale. KERNAN'S LYCEUM THEATER.

Matinee to-morrow at 2 The New Gus Hill's Novelties. Introducing the Phenomenal MLLE EUGRNIE PETRESCU, the sensation of Lendon and Paris NEXT | Flynn & Sheridan's Big Sensation NEW NATIONAL THEATER

DIGBY BELL

Opera Company, In Fred Miller's Nautical Opera NANCY LEE.

NEXT WEEK-SEAT SALE NOW OPEN. MISS OLGA NETHERSOLE.

Monday and Matinee Saturday, "CAMILLE;" uesday and Saturday, "DENISE." Wednesday and Friday, "FROU FROU." Thursday, "ROMEO AND JULIET. ACADEMY, Prices, 25, 50, 75c, $1.00. MAT. SAT., 25 and 50.

KATE CLAXTON TWO ORPHANS.

NEXT WEEK WEEK OF MYSTERY

First and Greatest of American Magicians. Magic up to Date.

"New Queen of Roses." "New Shrine," "New Magic," "New Illusions." SEATS NOW ON SALE.

Marie Wainwright,

TO-DAY, SATURDAY NIGHT and SATURDAY MATINER, THE LOVE CHASE.

Gorgeously costumed in style of Charles IL

ALLEN'S GRAND GPERA HOUSE

NEXT WEEK-Nov. 11th

SHORE ACRES

Seats now selling at the Box Office. FOOTBALL. Schuylkill Navy

C. A. C. Friday, Nov. 8, at 4 p. m. Columbian Field, 17th and C Sta Admission.....

Overlook Inn. Beautifully Situated on East Washington Heights.
Coaches connect at 3:00, 4:93, 5:03, 5:40, 6:00, 6:20, 7:00, 7:00, 8:00, 8:0, 9:0; 10:00, 11:00 and 12:00 p. m. with F st. cars at 5th and E Cap. sta. and with cable cars at 5th st. and Penns. ave. Fare round trip, 25 cents PIANO, Organ, Vocal Music and theory taughtby J. F. GERMUILLER, 611 1St. nw on some days he has gone over as much as 62 miles in twenty-four hours. His horse, is an Anglo-Arabian. A medal for a kind of service not usually o rewarded will be given to the British soldiers who bravely fought the plague at Hong Kong last year. It will be of gold for the officers and silver for the men, and is given by the authorities at Hong Kong, and not by the British government. Court dress in Berlin is to be modeled on the Venetian costumes of the renaissance. The deputies will appear as Venetian senators Arthur Orton, the Tichborne claimant, who now keeps a tobacco shop in Islington, was in a London police court the other day to prosecute a man who had stolen his watch and chain.

The Marquis of Lorne, although the hushand of the I rincess Louise, is, in the sight of the law, a commoner, and in state and official papers he is invariably described as "John Campbell, commonly called the Marquis of Lorne." Rosa Bonbeur's paintings are scattered

It was, therefore, noted as a curiosity that at a recent exhibition at Frankforton-the-Main there were no fewer than nineteen of her paintings. France proposes to put an end to racing by ocean greyhounds by enforcing the regulations of 1882, limiting the speed at sea. A new bill drawn up by the marine ministry imposes heavy penalties for excessive

The acquittal of the Marquis de Nayve

all over the world, and not many galleries have more than one or two specimens

Astonished Criminal Courts .

closes the final chapter of probably the most romanic story that was ever told in any one of the criminal courts of France.

All the material for the most extravagant drama was exhibited in this case, the family secret, the extraordinary marringe, the threats of the blackmailer, the thort sad life of the young martyr. Menaldo, his pathetic letters, his desire to find out who he was, his escape from the seminary where he was practically a risoner, the tragedy on the rocks of the bay of Naples, the sudden death of each one of the principal witnesses, the conspiracy of the cures, their influence over the marquise and her two sons, the strange re-traction of their denunciations, and finally the breaking down of the prosecu-

The marquis is now a free man, but, guilty or innocent, his name will always be linked with another that will be whispered wherever he goes, and that name is Mo-

Hadn't Game, But Wanted the Name. Cholly-Me good fellah, would you kindly arwest and fine me for shooting deer out of season?

Game Warden—How many did yer shoot?
Cholly—I didn't shoot any, but if you'll arwest and fine me for shooting six deer, and have it put in the Adiwondak News, I'll a lift you'll you give you

Once a fault is established, every addi-

The earth's strata are labeled and are date itself to a slowly diminishing interior. Solid and volatile matter is expelled, the mountain wrinkles indicate a slow subsivent. Pressure in one locality may find ent in another locality, and a way n that direction is probably what to us i that there overlies bedrock. It is a suspicions region, and doubtles will again, though it may be many years kence, be the scene of seismic violence

England's Debt.

Few Florida Oranges This Year.